about our wines

coupa café has focused on chilean and argentinean wines because of their quality and excellence. both countries are using contemporary techniques with authentic grapes to create an irresistible wine. west of the andes, chile's climate varies from the heat of the arid, rocky, mountainous desert to the north and the icy, antarctic expanse in the south. midway between the two are the warm, fertile valleys that are home to this nation's vineyards. although, chile has only made an impact on the foreign market in the past decade with a reputation for excellent price/quality, viticulture has been established there for centuries. there are a wide selection of international varieties planted, including cabernet sauvignon, merlot, chardonnay and others which are offered at coupa café for your appreciation argentina has its own french variety, malbec, which historically is thought of as a minor bordeaux variety. as well as playing a role in the appellations of the south-west of france, such as cahors, argentina has another incredible grape, torrontés, a white variety with character resulting in a fresh and aromatic wine.
